Edit You may obtain one of several format of Werewolf: The Apocalypse 20th character sheet HERE. Please consider supporting the creator of these character sheets on his PATREON. A. Record the character Name. B. Record the Player's Name. That's you, unless the character is for someone else. C. Record the Chronicle Name. Not all Storytellers name their chronicles right away or even at all, however. D. Record the character's BREED. * The three types of Breed are: HOMID, METIS, and LUPUS. * Your Breed determines your Gnosis rating. E. Record the character's AUSPICE. F. Record the character's TRIBE. * Your Tribe determines your Willpower rating. G. Record the character's PACK NAME. H. Record the character's PACK TOTEM. I. Record the character's CONCEPT. * A concept is usually a two-word phrase to describe what your character is. * Examples: Gullible Clubgoer, Serial Killer, Strung-Out Journalist. A. You must select ATTRIBUTES, which represent your character's innate capabilities. Start by prioritizing the three categories. B. There are three categories of Attributes: PHYSICAL, SOCIAL, and MENTAL. * The order you place these in determines how many dots you get to spend in each category; the higher the priority, the more dots for that category. * Physical Attributes are: Strength, Dexterity, and Stamina. * Social Attributes are: Charisma, Manipulation, and Appearance. * Mental Attributes are: Perception, Intelligence, and Wits. C. Each character has one free dot in each Attribute to start. * Your character begins with one free dot in each Attribute automatically, which are already filled in on the character sheet. You do not add any extra free dots. * This free dot does not count toward the number of dots you have to allocate. D. Allocate additional dots amongst your Attributes. * Place 7 additional dots in any configuration into the three Attributes of your primary category. * Place 5 additional dots in any configuration into the three Attributes of your secondary category. * Place 3 additional dots in any configuration into the three Attributes of your tertiary category. A. You must select ABILITIES, which represent your character's learned capabilities. Start by prioritizing the three categories. B. There are three categories of Abilities: TALENTS, SKILLS, and KNOWLEDGES * Talents are: Alertness, Athletics, Brawl, Empathy, Expression, Intimidation, Leadership, Primal-Urge, Streetwise, and Subterfuge. Hobby Talent is a bonus Talent. * Skills are: Animal Ken, Crafts, Drive, Etiquette, Firearms, Larceny, Melee, Performance, Stealth, and Survival. Professional Skill is a bonus Skill. * Knowledges are: Academics, Computer, Enigmas, Investigation, Law, Medicine, Occult, Rituals, Science, and Technology. Expert Knowledge is a bonus Knowledge. C. Place 13 dots in any configuration into the ten Abilities of your primary category. * You do not gain any free Ability dots to start out with. * Place 13 dots in any configuration into the ten Abilities of your primary category. * Place 9 dots in any configuration into the ten Abilities of your secondary category. * Place 5 dots in any configuration into the ten Abilities of your tertiary category. * No single Ability may go above 3 dots at this time. Abilities may be raised up to 5 dots with Freebie Points, however. A. Record your chosen GIFTS from Breed, Auspice, and Tribe (see below). * For a complete list of all gifts, check out the LIST OF GIFTS. * You will have a total of 3 Gifts. B. Choose one Gift from the Breed Gifts. Take FLAWS (Optional). * You may take Flaws in order to gain Freebie Points on a point-for-point basis. Example: If you purchase a 4-point Flaw you gain 4 additional Freebie Points. * You may not gain more than 7 points in Freebie Points from Flaws, though you can take more than 7 points in Flaws if the Storyteller is willing to let you do so. (Rare is the ST that won't let you, however). * You may choose from MENTAL FLAWS, PHYSICAL FLAWS, SOCIAL FLAWS, SUPERNATURAL FLAWS. * You will never receive more than a total of 22 Freebie Points. I. Purchase MERITS using Freebie Points (Optional). Some characters are especially good at particular applications of their Traits. For example, a mechanic might be particularly good with muscle cars, a thief might excel at breaking and entering, or a brawler might be infamous as a dirty fighter. To represent this, characters with ratings of 4 or higher in Attributes or Abilities may choose specialties for those Traits. A specialty is a particular sub-category of an Attribute or Ability -- thus, a character with a Strength 5 might choose to be especially adept in deadlifting, while a character with Performance 4 might be renowned for her singing. Whenever a player makes a die roll involving an activity in which her character has specialized, she may count any die that comes up "10" as two successes instead of just one. * When a character has at least four dots in an Attribute or Ability, she's eligible to choose a specialty in the given Trait. * Specialties represent a particular focus and proficiency related to the character's concept or profession. * Whenever you roll for an action that falls under your character's specialty, any die that comes up "10" counts as two successes instead of just one.
